Victory

When within our college wall
Came the summons for the men
Who would freely give their all
For wiping out inhuman sin.
Many students gladly, then,
Changed to soldiers that would e'er be staunch and true;
Boys, to heroes for the Red, the White,
the Blue.

For the books and campus dear
They had guns, whose shot was fell,
And dread trenches, damp and drear;
For the sweet-toned college bell,
Awful, screaming shrapnel shell;
In the place of graduation stage so grand,
Some have graves beneath the sod in No
Man's Land.

FOREWORD

TO leave some small reminder of our college days during the year 1919 has been the purpose of the editors in the publication of the "Victory." We should have liked more time to present a more complete and a handsomer book to our subscribers. But we offer the "Victory" without apology, trusting that it will be received with a small sense of satisfaction by the members of the Class of 1919 and others. It is to be hoped that in the future years this book may be the means of recalling to the minds of 1919 the pleasant and profitable days that we spent together on the campus at TRINITY

Reminiscence of the Class of 1919

L. H. McNeely

We gathered here from far and near,
One hundred ninety-four,
In glow of youth, to learn the truth
As found in college lore.

We stood aghast before the task
In frames of tintless hue,
For Freshman themes, no fancied dreams,
Must come the moment due.

A second year, with much less fear,
The days approached and closed,
To strut the floor, a Sophomore,
A sagely air we posed.

We sent a band in foreign land,
An act the tyrant rued,
To set the Hun upon the run,
While others books pursued.

Again we came into the game,
To make our wit more keen;
By studying books and wisdom's looks
That we on truth may lean.

A mingled mass of lad and lass
We played to win the score;
Through full four years of smiles and tears,
The flag we firmly bore.

We now contend three score and ten
Can tell our goodly tale;
And thus we part with dismal heart
To prove our worth, or fail.

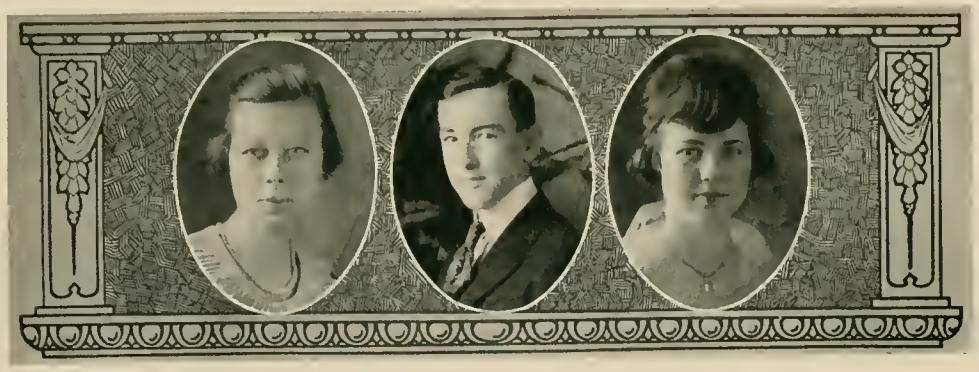
1919

The Class of 1919 entered college in 1915 with an enrollment of 194. This number has gradually diminished, and as we prepare to receive our rewards for the four years' service and to depart to various sections, we know not where, we find that only about sixty-five of our original band are still with us. To this number must be added the members of other classes who joined us in our closing year.

We would not venture the assertion that the Class of '19 is the greatest class that ever came to Trinity. We leave that for others. We merely state that we have held our own, and as we leave to uphold the principles that we have learned at our Alma Mater, we do not go with frowns or fears, but with smiles of hope and ambition. And some day we hope to repay, in part, the grand institution that has fitted us for the battles of our future years.

And now, as the shades of night fall and bring to a close our four happy years, let us resolve never to forget the joys of our college days, never to forget Trinity, and never to forget the great old Class of '19.



Senior Class

LEONORA M. AIKEN . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Sophomore Honors; Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Eko-L, Secretary and Treasurer (4); Parthenon Club, Secretary (4), Third Member of Executive Committee (4); Y. W. C. A., Chairman World Fellowship Committee (4); Athena Literary Society, Secretary (4).

Scientific Missionary to-be, and an assured success at it—predicting from her long, faithful work in the Y. W. C. A. and the Science Hall.

"Good actions crown themselves with lasting bays;
Who well deserve needs not another's praise."—Heath.

FRED CUTLER ALDRIDGE . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Trinity Park School; Hesperian Literary Society; Trinity Park School Club; Science Club; Class Tennis (3), Varsity Tennis (3, 4); Class Basketball (2, 3), Captain (3), Varsity Basketball (3, 4); Tombs; "T" Club.

"Fred"—"Little but loud." Ask the forwards who opposed him in basketball.

INEZ ALLEN, Z T A . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Business Staff of "Victory"; Athena Literary Society, Treasurer (3); Y. W. C. A., Vice-President (4).

Pillar of the Church; Bureau of Information about Blue Ridge; Indefatigable worker for the Y. W. C. A.; Modern exponent of advertising, and, moreover, "Innocence" is her nickname.

"Lively and gossiping,
Stored with the treasures of the tattling world,
And with a spice of myrth too."—Cowper.

Senior Class

CLARKE CONRAD ALEXANDER, ΣX . . . . . Martin, Tenn.

McFerrin School; Class Treasurer (1); Tennessee Club, Secretary (1, 2); Hesperian Literary Society, Executive Committee (1); Alternate Intersociety Debate (2), Intersociety Debate (4); Y. M. C. A., Cabinet (4); Ministerial Band; Classical Club, Treasurer (4); Traveling Representative of the College, Summer of 1918; Speaker for the Presentation of the College Service Flag (3); Chairman of Committee on Football (3); Editor-elect of the "Archive" (4); "Chronicle," Reportorial Staff (2), Associate Editor (3), Editor-in-Chief (4); Golf Club (4); Instructor Trinity Park School (4); Sigma Upsilon; "9019"; Tombs; Red Friars; Pan-Hellenic Council, President (4).

"Alex"—'Bout the busiest man on the park. Loaded down with work, but he can handle it all—even to the Preps.

ANNIE LOU BEAVERS . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Athena Literary Society.

In high school she once got her Tennyson mixed, and in the noble words of King Arthur orated with fervor,

"If thou shouldst never see my soul again,
Pray for my face. More things are wrought by prayers
Than this world dreams of."

But when she got to Trinity her prayer changed to one for her grades. My, but she is glad that she has her sheepskin now, and that "the old order changeth, yielding place to new!"

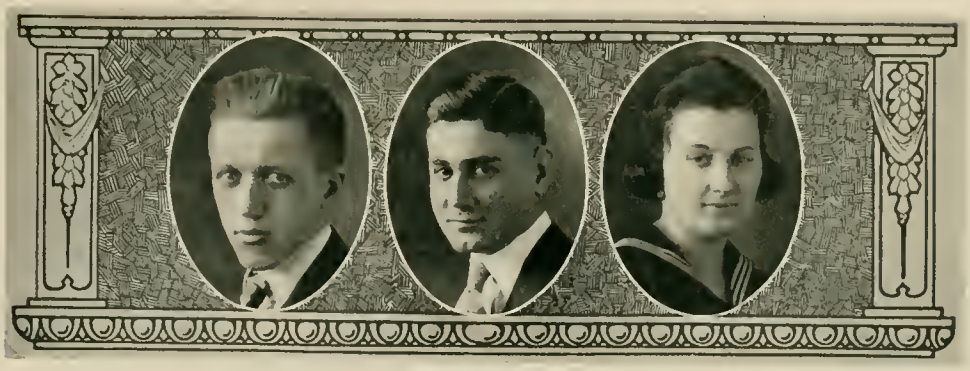
"Her statue tall—I hate a dumpy woman."—Byron.

LEE JAMES BEST, $K\Sigma$ . . . . . Dunn, N. C.

Hesperian Literary Society; Classical Club; Chanticleer Staff (3); Assistant Business Manager "Chronicle" (2); Officers' Club; Red Friars.

"Jimmy"—The "best" of Dean Mordecai's Law School.

As of the Class of '18.



Senior Class

CARLISLE WILSON BRABHAM, Φ K Φ . . . . . Allendale, S. C.

Wofford College (1, 2); South Carolina Club.

"Carlisle," "Brab"—Following the time-honored custom, he came to us from our sister college in the Palmetto State—" 'nuff said."

ROBERT WALLACE BRADSHAW, Δ T Ω . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Wilson High School; Sophomore Honors; "Chronicle" Board; Classical Club, Secretary (4); Hesperian Literary Society, Business Committee (2), Executive Committee (3), Secretary (3), Critic (4), Vice-President (4), President (4); Hades Club, President (4); Wake County Club; Durham High School Club; Assistant in English Department; Manager-elect "Archive"; Commencement Marshal (2); Pan-Hellenic Council, Secretary (4); Class President (4); Editor-in-Chief "Victory"; Executive Committee Students' Dining Association (4); Class Basketball (3); Y. M. C. A., Chairman Finance Committee (4); Tombs; "2019"; Red Friars.

"Bobbie," "Brad"—Behold the President of the Senior Class, the editor of the Annual, and the empty-handed postman of the Woman's Building!

MINNIE BRADY . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Freshman and Sophomore Honors; Junior Scholarship; Durham High School Club; Parthenon Club.

Having become an adept in the Arts by Bacheloring Trinity, intends to master Columbia next, and then, while sighing for a new world to conquer, our serene one may deign to teach Spanish as a pastime.

"So much the better—I may stand alone,
But would not change my free will for a throne."—Byron.

Senior Class

JOSEPH HENRY BRENDALL, JR. . . . . Advance, N. C.

Walnut Cove High School; Columbia Literary Society, Chaplain, Member of Business Committee, Executive Committee, Associate Tribune, Secretary; Rutherford College Club; Hades Club; Botanical Club; Glee Club (3); Class Track (2, 3, 4); Class Basketball (3).

"Joe"—He has a never-ending line, and sometimes he says something worth listening to.

CLYDE RUSSELL BROWN . . . . . Potecasi, N. C.

Potecasi High School; Sophomore Honors; Sophomore Short Story Prize; Class Relay (2); Y. M. C. A.; Northampton County Club; Sandfiddlers' Club; Sigma Upsilon; "9019."

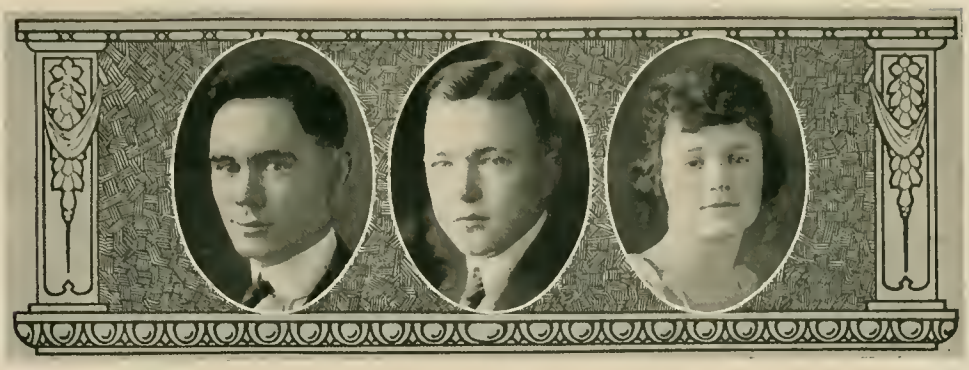
"Clyde," "O. Henry" the Second. A writer of no mean ability. Clyde also likes the girls, we think.

RUTH LOUISE BULLARD . . . . . West Durham, N. C.

West Durham High School; West Durham High School Club; Y. W. C. A.

A promising daughter—although addicted to telephone gas—who, because she has talent for music, tennis, and painting, bones laboriously over Spanish and French, in order to become a good trained nurse.

"Unfee'd, the cause of nature she obeys,
Not led by profit, nor allured by praise."—Crabbe.



Senior Class

JOHN FRANK CALFEE . . . . . Delton, Va.

Cluster Springs Academy; Virginia Club; Historical Society.

"Frank"—A pessimist's views with an optomist's don't-care-feel-good spirit. Frank talks in a weary tone, but has an ever-ready smile.

ARTHUR LEE CARVER, K A . . . . . Rougemont, N. C.

Durham High School; Assistant Manager Basketball (2); Class Basketball (1, 2, 3), Captain (1); Class Baseball (1, 2), Captain (2); Representative on Athletic Council (3); Durham High School Club, President (4); Varsity Baseball (1, 2, 3, 4), Captain (3, 4); Y. M. C. A.; Tombs; "T" Club; Officers' Club; Red Friars.

"Crip," "Arthur"—Baseball is his specialty and he loves to talk it.

JULIA ELIZABETH CARVER, A A P . . . . . Rougemont, N. C.

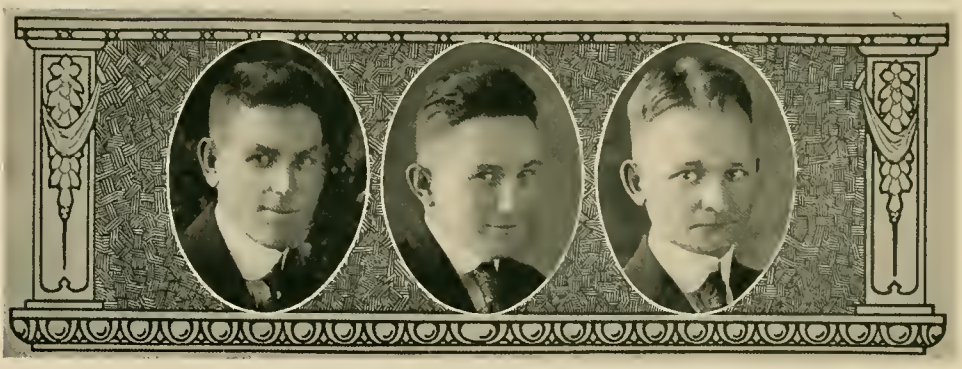
Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Parthenon Club; Delta Phi Rho Alpha; Pan-Hellenic Council (3, 4); Y. W. C. A., Music Committee.

Did she break rules? Of course not!—when there was any chance to evade them. Her motto seemed to be,

"When fun and duty clash,
Let duty go to smash."

The trouble was, she had enough energy for three people, and all her wit could scarcely steer it.

"Yet even her tyranny had such a grace,
The women pardon'd all except her face."—Byron.



Senior Class

HUGH LYNN CAVENESS . . . . . Coleridge, N. C.

Trinity Park School; Trinity Park School Scholarship; Freshman and Sophomore Honors; Trinity Park School Club; Science Club; Botanical Club, Program Committee (4); Officers' Club; Physics Club; Assistant in Chemistry (4); Class Track (2); Varsity Track (2, 4); Y. M. C. A.; Tombs; "9019."

"Red"—What he doesn't know about that Science Building isn't taught over there.

WILLIAM HIX CHERRY . . . . . Moravian Falls, N. C.

Rutherford College; Rutherford College Club; Columbian Literary Society, Associate Tribune, Chief Tribune, Vice-President; Historical Club; Hades Club; Class Track (1, 2, 3, 4), Captain (4); Varsity Track (3, 4); Y. M. C. A.

"Hix." He will run till he can't run, and doesn't know the word "quit." Go to it, Hix.

DENNIS COLE CHRISTIAN, JR. . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Hesperian Literary Society; Class Baseball (3).

"Dennis"—Proof sufficient that Durham can produce something besides "Bull."

Senior Class

CLAUDE B. COOPER, Σ Χ . . . . . Wilmington, N. C.

Navy Club; Rifle Club, President (3); "T" Club; Manager Tennis (4); Golf Club, President (4); Sandfiddlers' Club, Vice-President (4); Chronicle Staff (2), Associate Editor (4); Columbian Literary Society, Secretary (3), Vice-President (4), Business Committee (4), Intersociety Debate (4), Debate Council; Wilmington Club; Officers' Club; Tombs; Sigma Upsilon.

"Claude"—"The navy life for me"—A good thinker, a great promoter, and a golf fiend.

EUGENE PHILYAW CHARLES CRAFT . . . . . Wilmington, N. C.

Wilmington High School; Freshman Honors; "Chronicle" Staff (2), Associate Editor (3), Editor-elect (4); Chronicle Board; Classical Club; Glee Club (1, 2, 3), Manager (3); Hesperian Literary Society, Secretary (3); Officers' Club; Wilmington Club; Sandfiddlers' Club; Assistant in English Department; Class Vice-President (3); Associate Editor "Victory"; Y. M. C. A., Chairman Music Committee (4); Tombs; Sigma Upsilon; Red Friars.

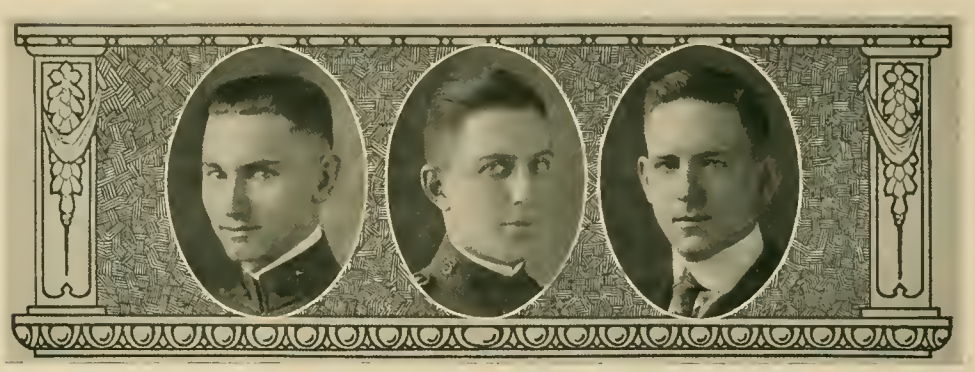
"Gene," "Peter"—Question: Why did Emperor Wilhelm surrender? Answer: He heard Lieutenant Craft was coming over, and he knew "Gene" could beat him "shooting lines."

MABLE RUTH CRUMPLER . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Athena Literary Society; Marshal (3); Third Member Executive Committee (4); Parthenon Club, Third Member Executive Committee (3), President (4).

Mirabile Dictu, a real girl who doesn't talk much, but even though modest, she can't prevent her head from looking conspicuously bright. "All that glitters is not gold"—because sometimes it is red.

"She speaks, behaves, and acts just as she ought."—Pope.



Senior Class

VESTA MORRIS DORRITY . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Stenographers' Club; Officers' Club, Secretary; Relay Race (1, 2); Y. M. C. A.

As of the Class of '18.

The silent philosopher in our midst. Behind that silent physiognomy there must be a wealth of knowledge.

EDMUND FLEETWOOD DUNSTAN, Σ N . . . . . Elizabeth City, N. C.

Elizabeth City High School; Freshman and Sophomore Honors; Hesperian Literary Society, Marshal (2), Executive Committee (2), Treasurer (3); Chief Commencement Marshal (3); Sandfiddlers' Club, President (4); Assistant Business Manager "Chanticleer" (3); Assistant Manager of Athletics (2); Manager Tennis (3); Science Club; Officers' Club; Y. M. C. A.; "T" Club; "9019"; Tombs.

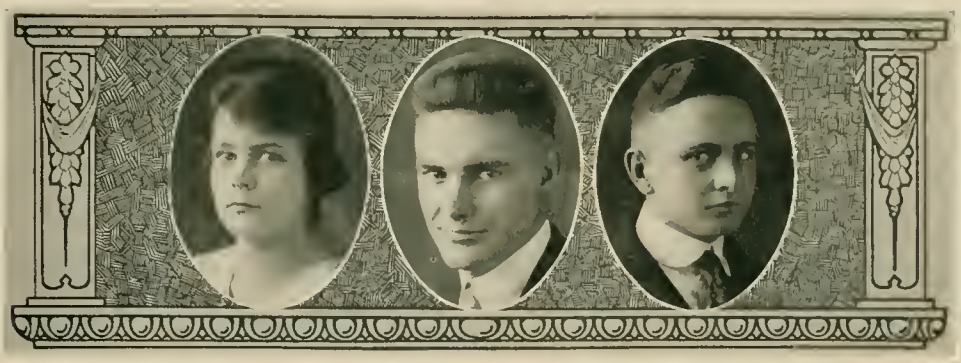
As of the Class of '18.

"Fleet"—Not "Fleet" of feet, but "Fleet" of brain. He never lacks something to say whether it be in Hesperia or Philosophy.

CARL C. EDENS, Ψ K Φ . . . . . Rowland, N. C.

Rowland High School; Columbian Literary Society, Commencement Marshal (1); "Chanticleer" Board; Class Baseball (1, 2, 3), Captain (2); Varsity Baseball (2, 4); Class President (3); Executive Committee Students' Dining Association; Officers' Club; Y. M. C. A.; "T" Club; Tombs; Theta Nu Epsilon.

"Dick"—When it comes to playing ball—well—you just ought to see him. They say he shines as well in the ball room as on the ball field.



Senior Class

JANIE GERTRUDE FALLON, K 1 . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Parthenon Club; Pan-Hellenic Council (4).

If she had followed her nose, she would have been in heaven long ago; but according to her usual obstinacy, she lingers down here to pester her unfortunate sorors and "ha, ha," in the faces of the poor Profs. who have worked so hard to give her a diploma.

"Hast so much wit and myrth, and spleen about thee,
There is no living with thee, nor without thee."—Martial.

ROBERT ALSTON FEW, K A . . . . . Greer, S. C.

Greer High School; Class Baseball (3); Class Tennis (3); Varsity Tennis (3); Assistant Manager Baseball (2, 3), Manager (4); Navy Club, President (4); Officers' Club; "T" Club; Columbian Literary Society, South Carolina Club; Athletic Editor, the "Victory"; Pan-Hellenic Council (3, 4); Y. M. C. A.; Tombs; "9019."

"Bob"—He can manage anything from the dope shop to the baseball team.

ROBERT EUGENE FOX . . . . . West Asheville, N. C.

Weaver College (1, 2); Science Club; Biological Club; Hades Club; Mountain Boomers' Club; Assistant in Chemistry (4); Y. M. C. A.

He's too busy to be making a noise.

Senior Class

MANLEY KEARNS FULLER, $\Sigma P E$ . . . . . Whiteville, N. C.

Whiteville High School; Hesperian Literary Society; Class Relay (1); College Band (1, 2, 3); Y. M. C. A.; Sandfiddlers' Club; Navy Club; Beta Omega Sigma; Theta Nu Epsilon.

"Manley"—He's got the navy brogue and the navy walk, but "Terra firma for me."

NANCY AMOURETTE GREEN, ΦM . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Brenau College.

Scene: Trinity Campus. Time: The day after.
Dean W.: "Hey, Hunt, How come the grass and flowers trampled so and all these foot-prints toward the gate?"
Dean Hunt: "Don't know, sir, unless it was that there stampede toward Miss Green's house."
Dean W.: "Oh, I forgot! Last night was Miss Green's open night—her date night."

"But when we see in one combin'd
Charms such as do in you exists,
And the well-cultivated mind,
Her magic power, who can resist?"—J. T. Watson.

JAMES G. GROOME . . . . . Greensboro, N. C.

Jamestown High School; Columbian Literary Society; Clerk Tribunal; Botanical Club; Science Club; Assistant in English Department; Assistant Track Manager (3); Y. M. C. A.

As of the Class of '18.

"Shorty"—Short on legs, but long on headwork. As "Shorty" Love is to the library, so is "Shorty" Groome to the English Department—absolutely unnecessary.

Senior Class

ALLEN HATCHETT GWYN . . . . . Yanceyville, N. C.

Trinity Park School; Columbian Literary Society, Recording Secretary, Executive Committee, Business Committee, Clerk Tribunal, President, Intersociety Debate (2, 3); Winner of Sophomore Debate; Washington & Lee Debate (3); Swarthmore Debate (4); Debate Council; Commencement Marshal; Junior Oratorical Contest; Historical Society; Science Club; Physics Club; Trinity Park School Club; Assistant Manager "Archive"; Class Relay (3); Class Vice-President (2); Class President (3); Tombs; Y. M. C. A.; Officers' Club; "9019"; Tau Kappa Alpha.

"Allen"—A Cicero come to judgment. Like our ancient friend, he is "some" orator.

As of the Class of '18.

Roxboro High School; Hesperian Literary Society; Chairman Executive Committee (3); "T" Club, Vice-President (4); Navy Club; Class Basketball (2, 3); Science Club; Class Track (2, 3); Assistant Manager Track (3), Manager Track (4); Person County Club, President (4); Biology Club; Pan-Hellenic Council (3); Y. M. C. A.; Theta Nu Epsilon; Tombs; Red Friars.

"Bob," "Roxey"—The pride of Roxboro, and proud of it. A gob of the first water, but from now on, of fresh water.

WILLIAM RANSOM HANCHEY . . . . . Wallace, N. C.

Wallace High School; Physics Club; Science Club; Duplin County Club, Secretary (1); Assistant Instructor in Drawing and Surveying; Sandfiddlers' Club; Engineers' Club, President (4).

The man who knows every inch of the campus by actual measurement.

Senior Class

ARITA MARIE HARPER . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club, Secretary and Treasurer (4); Athena Literary Society, Program Committee (3), Chairman Program Committee (4), President (4); Y. W. C. A., Program Committee, Music Committee; Associate Editor "Victory"; Staff Associate "Chronicle."

Noted for her regular and punctual attendance, and conscientious studiosity—even interested enough in French 5 to hurry over occasionally to see that "Rabbit" and the cabbages are safely locked in.

ἔρος ἀεκίω καὶ τὸ κάλον λέλογχεν.
ἐγὼ δὲ φίλημ' ἁβροσύναν, καί μοί λαμπρον

LEWIS MCCRAW HEFLIN, JR. . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Tombs.

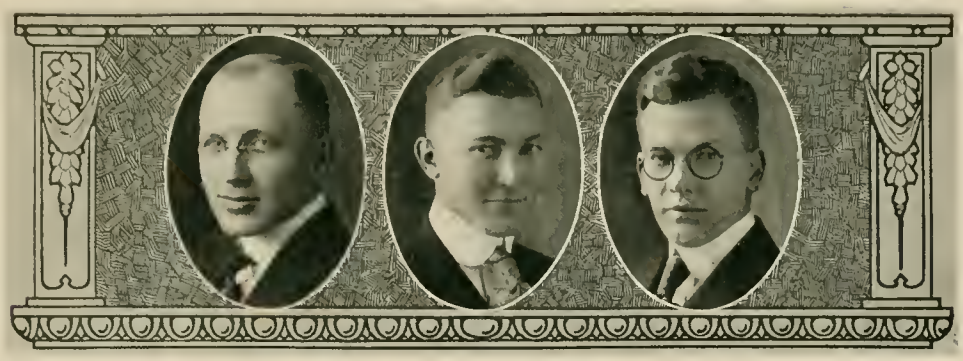
"Lewis," "Doc"—Strong of heart, but too weak to resist cupid's piercing shaft. The first of '19 to embark upon the enchanting sea of matrimony.

IMOGEN HIX . . . . . Rose Hill, N. C.

West Durham High School; West Durham High School Club, President (4); Duplin County Club, Secretary (1); Hades Club; Athena Literary Society; Parthenon Club, Treasurer (3), Third Member Executive Committee (4); Y. W. C. A.

Another mouse who slips in and out of classes and pays little attention to anything else, and yet she possesses qualities that are worthy of notice were she to come out of her shell.

"A sweet attractive kind of grace,
A full assurance given by looks"—Matthew Roydon.



Senior Class

ANDREW JARVIS HOBBS, JR. . . . . Corapeake, N. C.

Trinity Park School; Sophomore Honors; Commencement Marshal (2), Chief Marshal (3); Class Vice-President (2); Assistant Business Manager "Chronicle" (2, 3), Manager-elect "Chronicle" (4), "Chronicle" Board; Columbian Literary Society, Clerk Tribune (2), Business Committee (2), Secretary (3), Executive Committee (3), President (4), Debate Council; Physics Club; Science Club; Sandfiddlers' Club; Quill Club; Trinity Park School Club; Stenographers' Club, President (2); Ministerial Band, Secretary and Treasurer (2, 3); Y. M. C. A., Treasurer (3), President (4), Assistant to the Registrar (1, 2, 3); Corresponding Secretary to the Greater Trinity Club (3); Business Manager "Victory"; Tombs; "9019."

"A. J.," "Jarvis"—He's business manager, therefore, responsible for nothing. Loaded down with honors, but he has endured them well.

HARMON LESLIE HOFFMAN . . . . . Cottage Grove, Tenn.

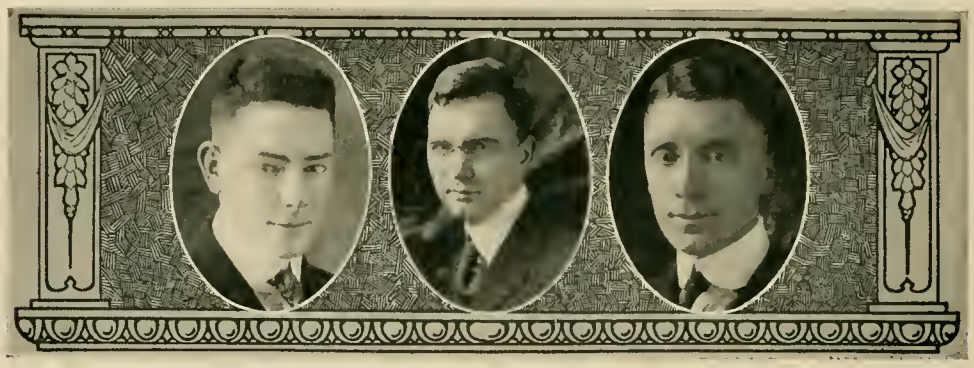
Freshman and Sophomore Honors; Cottage Grove High School; Tennessee Club, Vice-President (2); Hesperian Literary Society, Marshal (2), President (4), Critic (4); Debate Council (4); Intersociety Debate (3); Chairman Executive Committee (3); Classical Club, Secretary (3); Y. A., Cabinet (3, 4); Class Relay (3); Commencement Marshal (2); Sophomore and Junior Scholarships; "Chanticleer" Board (3); Assistant Latin (3, 4); Assistant Trinity Park School (4); Ministerial Band; Assistant Manager "Victory" (4); Associate Editor "Archive."

The "theolog" who can do everything from preaching a sermon to drilling recruits. An authority on Virgil and the "I. D. R."

WILLIAM EDMUND HOWARD . . . . . Richlands, N. C.

Richlands High School; Sandfiddlers' Club; Columbian Literary Society, Business Committee (2), Member Tribunal (4); Historical Society; Y. M. C. A.

"Buck," "Big Bill"—He had so many honors that we had to leave most of them out. Bolshevist special—also a good "collector."



Senior Class

JAMES DANIEL JEROME . . . . . Rose Hill, N. C.

Rose Hill High School; Duplin County Club, Vice-President (4); Hesperian Literary Society, Marshal (2); Sandfiddlers' Club, Class Basketball (3); Class Baseball (2, 3); Varsity Baseball (2, 1); Representative Athletic Council; Y. M. C. A.; Tombs.

"J. D."—The blue ribbon of Duplin County, and promulgator of "Watch Rose Hill Bloom" Propaganda."

HENRY HUNTER JONES . . . . . Durham, N. C.

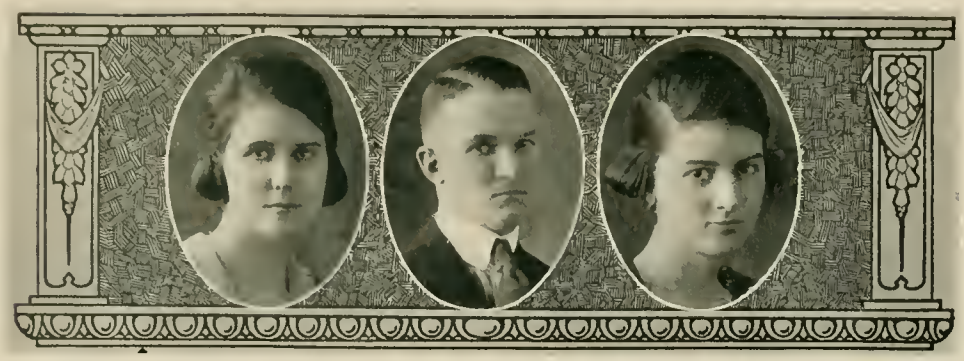
Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Physics Club; Science Club; Engineers' Club; Instructor in Engineering; "9019."

"Hunter"—The first of our class to make his debut in university work, while the rest of us still struggled for our "dips."

JESSE HERBERT LANNING . . . . . Linwood, N. C.

Rutherford College; Rutherford College Club; Weaver College; Columbian Literary Society, Member Executive Committee, Business Committee, Critic, Vice-President, Chaplain; Ministerial Band, Vice-President; Y. M. C. A., Chairman Social Service Committee; Business Manager "Chronicle"; "Chronicle" Board.

The man with the nerve to take upon his shoulders the managership of the war-orphaned "Chronicle" in these days of reconstruction.



Senior Class

MARY ELIZABETH LATTA . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Athena Literary Society.

Another mouse who did not give enough of her self to Trinity College life, and was even too reticent in class to give herself justice, whether in scanning English poetry or translating Spanish.

"It was not myrth—for myrth she was too still;
It was not wit—wit leaves the heart more chill;
But that continuous sweetness which with ease
Pleases all around it from the wish to please."

THOMAS NEWTON LEE, P K A . . . . . Monroe, N. C.

Monroe High School; Class Treasurer (3); President Greater Trinity Club (4); Pan-Hellenic Council (4); Tombs; Theta Nu Epsilon.

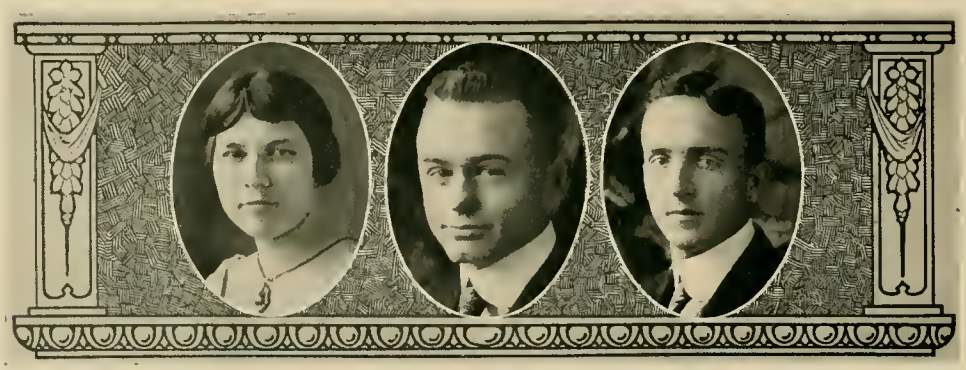
"Brute"—Steady as the rock of Gibraltar. A living example of the old adage that "Still water runs deep." When he speaks, he says something.

FLORINE T. LEWTER . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Parthenon Club, President (4), Third Member Executive Committee (4); Y. W. C. A.

Prima inter bares—Beginning with mens sana in corpore sano and the belief that labor omnia vincit, she said, "Nitor in adversum!" Being semper fidelis soon for her abeunt studia in mores until ad libitum she can translate sesquipedalia verba ad ungeum. Then for her labor ipse erat voluptas, and in the future years she can look back with her mens sibi conscia recti over Trinity activities as "quorem pars magni fui."

"'Tis education forms the common mind."—Pope.



Senior Class

EMILY LOUISE LOFTIN . . . . . Beaufort, N. C.

Littleton College; Athena Literary Society; Sandfiddlers' Club; Y. W. C. A., Program Committee.

The most graceful dancer in Alspaugh Hall—and yet a good student worthy of the responsible and impossible position she holds— that of keeping the senior girls in row at chapel. Always thoughtful and self-contained.

"A soul without reflection, like a pile
Without inhabitant, to ruin runs."—Young.

JOHN COLLINS MALLARD, JR. . . . . Rose Hill, N. C.

Rose Hill High School; Duplin County Club, Corresponding Secretary (1); Sandfiddlers' Club; Officers' Club; Hesperian Literary Society, Marshal (3); Class Baseball (3); Y. M. C. A.; Tombs.

"Johnnie"—A second Vernon Castle, but too bashful and modest to admit it. A leading light among the ladies. He is determined that his home town shall soon be placed on the map.

JESSE BLACK MCCULLEN, P K A . . . . . Wilmington, N. C.

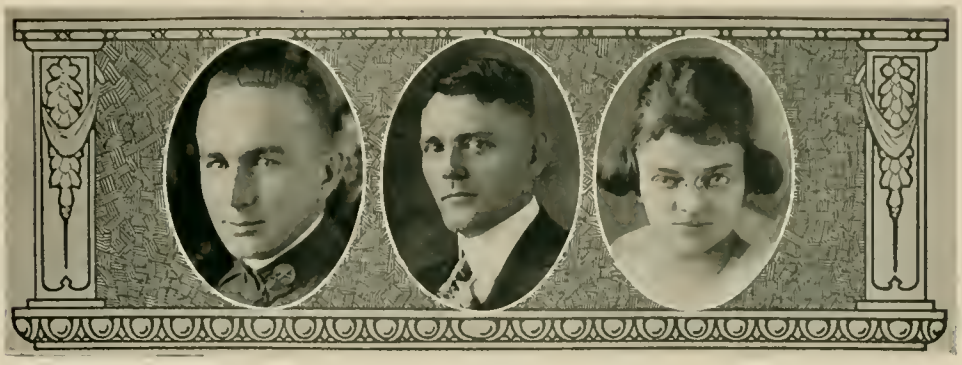
Trinity Park School; Trinity Park School Club; Hesperian Literary Society, Executive Committee (3); Class Tennis (2, 3); Class Baseball (3); Class Basketball (2, 3, 4); Varsity Tennis (3, 4), Captain (3); Officers' Club; "T" Club; Red Friars.

"Mac"—He wields the racket with the consummate skill of McLoughlin and Wildes.



Senior Class

LESTER HOWALD MCNEELY . . . . . Morganton, N. C.

Rutherford College; Track Team (3); Rutherford College Club, Vice-President; Historical Society; Columbian Literary Society, Chaplain, Secretary, President, Inter-society Debate (4); Y. M. C. A.

"Mac"—We knew that he could preach, but he showed us in the Inter-Society debate that he could argue just as well.

FRANK MCNEILL . . . . . Lumberton, N. C.

Class Relay (2); Officers' Club, President; Tombs; Theta Nu Epsilon; Y. M. C. A.

"Frank," "Mac"—When it comes to starting things, Lenine and Trotzky can't hold a candle to "Mac."

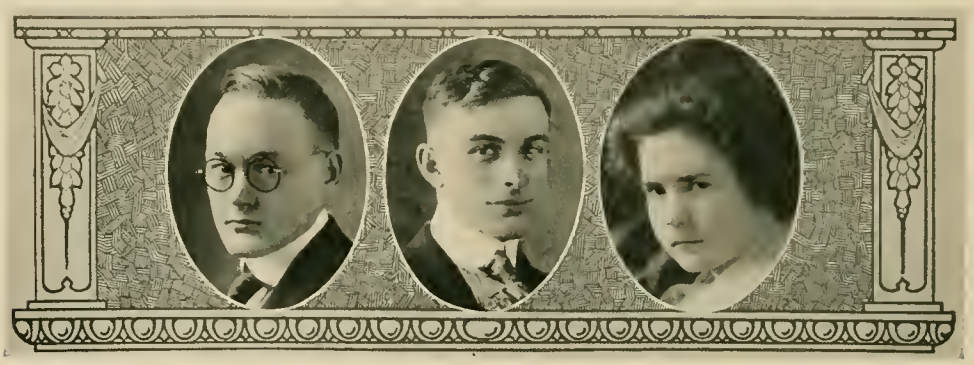
As of the Class of '18.

RUTH WILLARD MERRITT . . . . . Norlina, N. C.

Littleton College; Rich Square High School; Athena Literary Society, Vice-President (4); Student Volunteer Band, President (4); Student Government Association, President (4); Hades Club; Y. W. C. A

Une bas bleu et une fille d'honneur, and an inveterate movie fan. Her many dissipations kept her mother sitting up nights worrying, but in spite of them and her habit of scribbling in secret, Sister Ruth managed to be a whale in French 5, and to boss the S. G. A. of the Alspaugh. She says, says she,

"Femme veut, en toute saison
Etre dame en sa maison."
"Those about her
From her shall read perfect ways of honour."—Shakespeare.



Senior Class

ZERAN LEWIS MERRITT . . . . . Bolton, N. C.

Bolton High School; Hesperian Literary Society; Biological Club; Science Club; Sandfiddlers' Club; Y. M. C. A.

"Z"—He loved to delve into the mysteries of the Chem. Lab. and his actions and reactions are a puzzle to "Prof.," himself.

GIBBONS WESTBROOK MURPHY . . . . . Wallace, N. C.

Wallace High School; Hesperian Literary Society; Engineering Club, Secretary (1); Physics Club; Duplin County Club, Secretary (2), President (1); Class Track (2, 3); Class Relay (1, 2, 3); Biological Club, Secretary (4); Sandfiddlers' Club, Treasurer (4); Tombs.

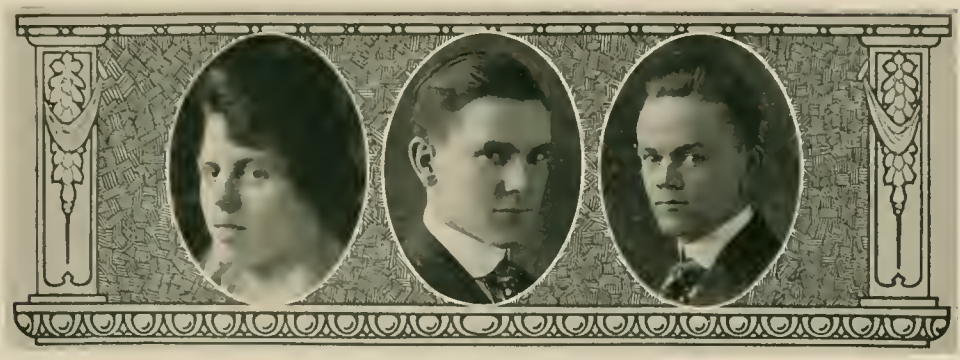
"Westbrook"—He has an Irishman's name and all the genial characteristics of a veritable son of Erin.

ETHEL MARSH MURRAY . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Stenographers' Club; Athena Literary Society, Critic (1); Eko-L.

Scholar of modern languages, meek and retiring, but bright "in the belfry." It is rumored that her mother had to urgently entice her out of bed at 5 a. m. on French morning, in order for Ethel to get to the class before the door was locked. Anyhow, she had the goods, generally, when she got there.

"Virtue alone is true nobility!"—Gifford.



Senior Class

LIZZIE READE NOELL . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club.

A good sport and an independent young woman who studied just enough and let the superfluity "go hang."

"Whence is thy learning? Hath thy toil
O'er thy books consumed the midnight oil?"—John Gay.

ALBERT WOMBLE OAKES, JR. . . . . Hookerton, N. C.

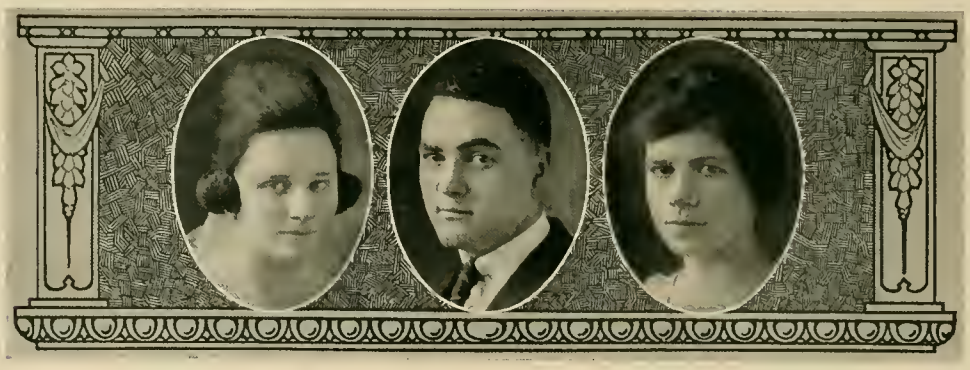
Trinity Park School; Trinity Park School Club; Sandfiddlers' Club; Columbian Literary Society, Member Executive Committee (2), Censor (3), Associate Tribune (3), Chief Tribune (4), Business Committee (4); Class Baseball (3); Class Relay (3, 4); Class Track (4); Y. M. C. A.

A great believer in Columbia and its powers.

WILBUR LEO CUNNINGGIM ORMOND . . . . . Snow Hill, N. C.

Hillsboro High School; Class Relay (2, 3); Science Club; Historical Society; Hesperian Literary Society, President (4); Y. M. C. A., Vice-President (4); College Band (3, 4).

A great line artist, an exponent of Hesperia, and the song-bird of '19.



Senior Class

MARY GOODWIN PETTIT, A Δ Π . . . . . Roseland, Va.

Virginia State Normal; Historical Society, Secretary (1); Athena Literary Society, Vice-President (4); Y. W. C. A.

Flower—Rose (Either American Beauty or bride's desirable.)

Color—Pink (Or ten cents' worth of Colgate's flesh-color will do.)

Motto: "A quiet conscience makes one so serene."—Byron.

Ambition: To be "the glass of fashion and the mold of form, the observed of all observers."—Shakespeare.

"Zounds! I was never so bethump'd with words
Since I first called my brother's father 'dad.'"—Shakespeare.

GILBERT EGERTON POWELL, Π K Φ . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Hesperian Literary Society, Secretary (3); Class Tennis (2, 3); Varsity Tennis (3, 4); Y. M. C. A., Cabinet (4); Theta Nu Epsilon; Tombs; Red Friars.

"Gilbert," "Sooner"—Champion funny man of the park. An orator since the time of Demosthenes.

NELLIE GRACE READE . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club; Athena Literary Society, Secretary (3), Third Member Executive Committee (1); Parthenon Club, Secretary (3), Vice-President (4), Program Committee (4).

A stand-by of useful clubs and good causes, and—as he who runs may read—one whose rede is not to be ignored.

"Of all the girls that e'er were seen,
There's none so fine as Nellie."—Swift.

Senior Class

JOE H. RUFF, A T O . . . . . Tupelo, Miss.

Webb School; Track Team (1, 2, 3, 4), Captain (4); Class Relay (2), Glee Club (1, 2, 3), Assistant Manager (3); Class President (1); Assistant Secretary Greater Trinity Club (2); Classical Club; Officers' Club; "T" Club; Tombs; Red Friars; Croix de Guerre.

"Joe," "Ruf," on the Germans and fast on the track. Also, not a bad hand with the ladies.

As of the Class of '17.

FRANK LESLIE SCARBOROUGH . . . .

Mount Gilead High School; Physics Club; Engineers' Club, Vice-President; Assistant Instructor in Surveying (3, 4); Y. M. C. A.

"Frank"—A man for whom the blue print is the highest work of art.

I. LEROY SHAVER . . . . . Richfield, N. C.

Rutherford College; Class President (1); Ministerial Band, President (4); Volunteer Band, Leader (4); Rutherford College Club, Secretary and Treasurer (1); Columbian Literary Society; Y. M. C. A. Representative at Blude Ridge (3).

Two things he can do well—Yea, three: Preach, visit among his flock, and as to courting the ladies—"always on the job."

Senior Class

RAY KENNETH SMATHERS . . . . . Canton, N. C.

Canton High School; Columbian Literary Society, Chief Tribune (2), Treasurer (3, 4), Cheer Leader (3, 4), Commencement Marshal (2); Historical Society (2, 3), Secretary and Treasurer (3); Haywood County Club; Mountain Boomers' Club; Assistant to College Librarian (3, 4); Varsity Track Team (1, 2, 3, 4), Captain and Coach (4); Class Track and Relay (1, 2, 3); College Band (1, 2, 3, 4), Manager (3, 4); Orchestra, Secretary and Treasurer, Music Council (3, 4); Officers' Club; Y. M. C. A.

"Track"—"A lawyer to the manner born." He has already won his first case against the government. His name expresses his other capabilities.

ROSALIE STEPP, K Δ . . . . . Danville, Va.

Randolph-Macon Institute; Y. W. C. A., Vice-President (2); Pan-Hellenic Council, Secretary (2); Virginia Club, Secretary and Treasurer (3); Athletic Committee, Chairman (2); Delta Phi Rho Alpha.

Alias: "Stepchild." Sunniness of disposition is characteristic of her, and augmented by the fact that she hasn't a queer looking nose like that of her unfortunate soror, D. O. Generally able to find her way to bon bons and flowers, too. How does she do it? Ask Rosalie, she "nose."

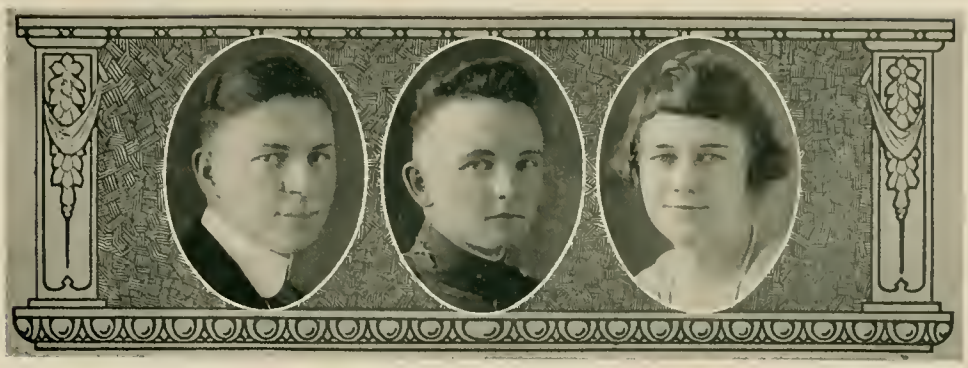
"That eloquence devoid of art,
That dignity that's lost in ease."—Cartwright.

EARL M. THOMPSON, Σ Χ . . . . . Henderson, N. C.

Wilmington High School; Track Team (1, 2, 3, 4); Hesperian Literary Society, Vice-President (3); Sandfiddlers' Club; Officers' Club; "T" Club; Tombs; Croix de Guerre.

"Earl"—Physically, he's a giant. In good-fellowship, he's a "super-man," a line artist of the first degree.

As of the Class of '18.



Senior Class

WILLIAM AVERY THOMPSON . . . . . Hallsboro, N. C.

Trinity Park School; Trinity Park School Club, President (4); Stenographers' Club; Class Baseball (3); Hesperian Literary Society, Chairman Executive Committee, Commencement Marshal (4), Chief Manager Commencement (3); Sandfiddlers' Club; Assistant Business Manager "Archive", Assistant Business Manager "Victory"; Officers' Club.

"XYZ," "Avery"—Tammany leader and a political light in Hesperia. A smooth talker and a general good fellow.

REGINALD TURNER . . . . . Monbo, N. C.

Riverside Military Academy; Trinity Park School; Trinity Park School Club; Class Relay (3); Class Basketball (3); Historical Society, Vice-President (4); Officers' Club; Y. M. C. A.

"Wop"—A loyal member of the Class of '19. From running relays to "orating" in Hesperia, he is the greatest of his kind.

SALLIE MAE TUTTLE, K Σ . . . . . Washington, N. C.

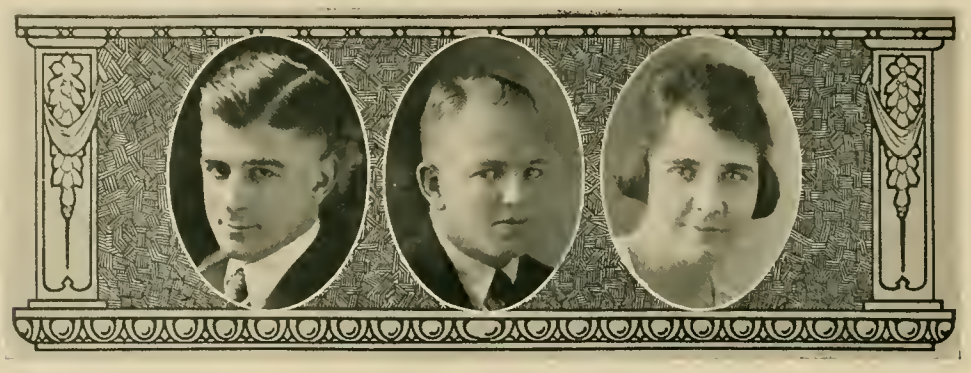
Industrial Institute and College; Sandfiddlers' Club; Class Treasurer (4); Y. W. C. A., Pan-Hellenic Council (4); Delta Phi Rho Alpha.

Vell, vell, vell! A faint squeak disturbs Chaucer class.
Bobbie looks up inquiringly from his translating, sees nothing peculiar, and so struggles on. "What was it?" whispers Nancy.
"Nothing but Sal's rat," somebody replies, and all heads bend over their books again.
"Rare compound of oddity, frolic and fun."—Goldsmith.



Senior Class

FRANCIS M. WANNAMAKER, K A . . . . . St. Matthews, S. C.

St. Matthews High School; Class Baseball (1, 2); Class Basketball (2, 3); Assistant Manager Basketball (1, 2), Manager (3, 4); South Carolina Club, President (4); Officers' Club; "T" Club, President (4); Hesperian Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.; Tombs.

"Frank," "Rooster." His name is "Rooster," and he is just as game as any lord of the barn-yard.

THOMAS M. WANNAMAKER, K A . . . . . Orangeburg, S. C.

Orangeburg High School; South Carolina Club; Hesperian Literary Society; "T" Club; Officers' Club; Assistant Manager Baseball (1, 2); Class Baseball (1, 2, 3); Varsity Baseball (3, 4); Tombs.

"Dink"—He is the "vamp" of '19. They all fall for him, but as yet he is unscathed.

MARTHA STROUD WARD . . . . . Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club.

She is not going to teach school—nosirree! This age is getting too degenerate, and the kids are too mean to suit this gentle well-behaved lady. She got her diploma just for her own mental comfort, and doesn't mean to share it with "no green 'children.'"

"To be honest as this world goes.
Is to be one pick'd out of ten thousand."—Shakespeare.

Senior Class

VERA MYRTLE WIGGINS, A I P . . . . . Denmark, S. C.

Denmark High School; South Carolina Club; Freshman and Sophomore Honors; Sophomore Scholarship; Athena Literary Society, Secretary (3), President (4); Parthenon Club; Class Secretary (2, 3, 4); Pan-Hellenic Council (3, 4); Contributing Editor of "Victory"; Y. W. C. A., Cabinet (3), President (4); Delta Phi Rho Alpha.

Though she was called "Lady of Size" and "Lady of Sighs," she wasn't so bad as her nickname seemed to indicate, for her "size" was gained at the Blue Ridge Y. W. C. A. convention, and her "sighs" due to the burden of offices thrust upon her lazy self in college. Her sentimental proclivities seemed to outgrow her official tendencies, but we hope for her ultimate recovery.

"And with her graceful wit there was inwrought
A mildly sweet unwordliness of thought."—Campbell.

Looking Forward

Our college life and joys are o'er,
Our real work begun.
We gaze into the great wide world,
Its sorrows, toils, and fun.

Our life within that whirling pit
Is not, by us, yet known;
We only hope that at our lunge
We will not soon go down.

And when in the crowd we take our place,
To make our mark, or lose,
May we in our college, pride endow,
And not our trust abuse.

Baseball

Baseball practice for the 1919 season started on February 8th. It continued with a rush until the first game on March 25th. The coaching of the team was in the hands of Captain Carver until just a few days before the first game. The team did excellent work under the direction of their captain, and the arrival of Coach Gooch found the team in first class working condition.

Coach Gooch is not at all unknown to us. He is an old Wake Forest man, has played professional baseball for several years, and finished last year's season with the Athletics. Since that time he has been in the army and was coach of a regimental team. In the short time that he has been here he has shown his ability to handle college men, both on and off the field, and bids fair to make for Trinity a most successful baseball season.

The Lenior game proved an easy victory for Trinity. The entire second team was put in the game by the coach. This game gave the coach an excellent chance to look his material over. The Trinity nine started off with seven runs in the first inning. Although the Lenoir team saw that they had no chance of winning the game, they stuck to the fight and never seemed to lose heart. Southard, pitching for the home team, struck out eight men and held his opponents to one hit during the six innings that he was in the box. Carroll replaced Southard in the seventh, striking out three men and holding his part of the game hitless. The hitting of Jerome and Hathaway, each securing three hits, were also features for Trinity. The whole team did excellent work, aggregating thirteen hits and making only three errors.

In the second game of the season Trinity met her old rival, N. C. State, and defeated her in a hard fought game by a score of 5-2. The hitting of Murray's offerings, snappy field work, and the backing up of Southard's excellent work on the mound placed the outcome of the game in Trinity's favor. The pitching of Southard and the good batting of Edens, Wannamaker, Carver, and Hathaway were the main features of the game. Trinity secured ten hits to her opponents' five.

Captain Carver at second is playing his usual steady game. "Crip's" ability to connect up with the ball is liable to lead to the downfall of many a good pitcher.

Although Edens was unable to finish last year's season at first base, he is back this season in full force. "Dick" has already shown his hitting ability by driving in the first two runs in the N. C. State game.

"Dink" at third is fielding his position well and has also made an excellent showing at the bat.

Jerome is a clever fielder and handles the clean-up position in the batting order in grand style.

"Sammy" is catching a good game and has a very accurate throw to second. This youngster has prospects of being the best catcher in the state.

"Mack" as lead-off man seldom fails to get on first, and once there is a terror to any catcher in the state. He is one of the fastest outfielders seen anywhere in these parts.

Although "Bill" has been "up in the air" for the past two years he is back again and is playing the same old game at short. He keeps the old "pep" in the game at all times and many batters are robbed of would-be hits by his fast fielding.

"Hath" in left, who lead the team in hitting last year, is playing his usual steady game both in the field and at the bat.

Earl, the mainstay in the box for the past season, is showing more stuff than usual, as was displayed in the N. C. State game when he held the heavy hitting Techs to five scattered hits.

Joe Caviness is back from defeating the Huns and is eager to oppose the strongest teams of the state.

Carroll and Page are also good mound prospects, and with a little seasoning these two pitchers will give any team a hard fight for the game.

Cole is a very valuable man, both as a pitcher and outfielder.

"Brick" is a live member of the baseball squad and is a very serviceable utility man.

Norton, Salmon and Phelps are showing up well as catchers.

Creech, Carver, W. S., Johnson, Massey, Ashe, and Graham are showing up well in daily practice.

Basketball

As usual the Trinity team met the strong Durham Y. M. C. A. team at the opening of the schedule. This engagement ended in a 39-34 victory for the Trinitians. In the first inter-collegiate game of the season, Trinity met her old time rival, Wake Forest, on the local floor, and won the contest by a well-margined score of 41-20. The Trinity tossers played all round better basketball than their opponents and settled once for all Wake Forest's chances for state honors.

The first reverse of the season was met when the N. C. State contingent walked away with an easy victory on the Raleigh auditorium floor. Although the Trinity men did splendid work, they were unable to cut down the lead which their opponents gained in the early part of the game, and the contest ended 28-18 for A. and E.

Once again on the local floor, the Methodist won an easy victory over the Guilford team, netting a total score of forty-two points against the total of nineteen registered by the Quakers. In this encounter the second string of men were given an opportunity to show their playing ability, and succeeded in piling up a creditable score.

The second game with N. C. State, which was played on the home floor, was by far the best indoor attraction seen at Trinity this season. In this game Trinity obtained revenge from the defeat administered by the Techs in Raleigh. By hard playing, systematic passing, and accurate shooting, the Trinity team gained a 22-19 victory over their adversaries.

On the Western North Carolina trip, both Elon and Guilford were defeated by well-margined scores by the local team. In the last game of the season on the home floor Trinity lost to Davidson by a narrow score of 20-19. The contest was hard fought from beginning to end, but the Davidson team stole a march on their adversaries early in the game and despite the frantic playing of the Trinity men, managed to escape with a one point victory.

The Virginia trip, contrary to precedent established in the past, proved decidedly disastrous to the Trinity quint. In all three contests, University of Virginia, Washington and Lee, and V. M. I., Trinity suffered defeat at the hands of the Virginians. The season closed with the game with V. M. I. at Lexington.

Despite the fact that Trinity played the entire season without the aid of a coach, she was able to beat the strongest teams of the state and emerged with a total of 225 points against that of 163 made by the opposing teams of the state. The team was piloted through the entire season by Manager F. M. Wannamaker and Captain H. P. Cole.

Captain Cole at right forward played a steady game throughout the season, scoring 60 points. Besides holding down the Captain's job, Cole demonstrated his ability as a coach.

Starling, at left forward, lead the team in scoring with 40 field goals. "Brick" was well known in Virginia from his last year's record and was guarded heavily in all three games.

Page at center made a total score of 49 points. Although this was his first year on the Varsity, he showed good basketball ability and bids fair to make Trinity a record man before his school days are over.

Aldridge at right guard played a consistent game throughout the season. Although Fred was the lightest man on the team, he guarded his opponents well and scored 31 points.

Hathaway at left guard featured in every game by his close guarding. All goals by "Hath's" forward were well earned. He held his opponents almost scoreless and secured 14 points to his credit.

Lee, Barrett, Giles, Carver and Jeffries showed up mighty well and all have promising futures in the basketball world.

The Trinity basketball team only loses one man this year by graduation, and the prospects for next year's team look unusually good.

During the war, tennis, like all other intercollegiate athletics, gave way to the bayonet and the gun. But with the coming of peace, this ancient game has again taken the important place it has ever before occupied. As the result of a hotly contested tournament, Trinity this year has four sure and capable men to uphold her past reputation.

Varsity Track Season, 1918

THE seventh Trinity Track season opened with the Interclass Meet. As usual, the Freshmen came out in overwhelming numbers and carried away the cup. The first varsity meet was scheduled with the University of North Carolina, but was called off at the last moment on account of rain. The state meet was held on May 4 at Chapel Hill. Davidson won first place, Carolina second, Trinity third, and Elon fourth. The other colleges in the state failed to qualify. The Trinity team made a good showing in all events. E. T. Harrison won the high hurdles and also placed in the low. Captain Lewis captured the half-mile in two minutes and five seconds. Brand, of Davidson, ran Smathers a neck and neck race for the mile and only succeeded in winning by a three-quarter of a second margin. Brand's time was four minutes and forty-two and two fifths seconds, while that of Smathers' was four forty-three flat. In the two miles Loftin had a walk-over in ten minutes and fifty-two seconds.

On May 10, the Trinity team made its first trip out of the state. The first meet was with V. M. I. at Lexington, Va. Captain Lewis and Barrow were the stars of the meet. Captain Lewis won a hard-fought race for the half-mile, and Barrow was a regular Hercules on the weights. The next meet was with V. P. I. at Blacksburg. Smathers and Loftin captured both distance events, Barrow the shot put, Hambrick the discus, Bruton the 220 dash, and McGrannahan the pole vault. The meet was featured by the team work of Smathers and Price on the mile.

Thus ended a most successful track season. Under the leadership of Captain M. S. Lewis and Manager R. H. Durham, the Trinity team made its first trip out of the state. Of course on such a long trip Trinity did not expect to win a meet in points, but the showing made by our boys proved that they were more than a match for the Virginians. In the long distance events the Virginia teams were easily out-classed in team work, and had the team not had the misfortune to become "drunk on the Virginia lime water," there is no doubt that Trinity would have won both meets in points as well as first places.

At the usual track "feed," R. K. Smathers was elected Captain and Coach for the 1919 Varsity season. The Athletic Council elected R. T. Hambrick as Manager. The following men were awarded letters for their achievements during the past season: Lewis(Smathers, Durham, Hambrick, Harrison, E. T., Loftin, Barrow, Bruton and McGrannahan. Captain Lewis, Smathers, and Barrow broke Trinity's past records in their events.

When the S. A. T. C. came to Trinity, the Army "Y" accompanied it; and the College Y. M. C. A. stepped aside for that organization. Regular college work began again after Christmas, and an announcement was made to the effect that the Army "Y" would continue in operation until June. This being the case, the College Y. M. C. A., after due consideration on the part of the cabinet members and the faculty advisers, decided not to take up its regular work for the remainder of the college year, but to assist the Army "Y" in the religious work on the campus. The cabinet members have had charge of the weekly meetings, and the influence of the Y. M. C. A. has been a great factor in the suppression of evil on the campus. The programs have been varied from time to time, and the meetings have proved interesting as well as helpful.

Next year the Y. M. C. A. will run on a pre-war basis, and with its newly elected officers, we predict for it great success.

It's What You Are That Counts

It's not the praises of your friends,
Nor the taunts of all your foes,
That make or mar your inner life,
That make or still your woes.
It's what you are that counts, my boy,
It's what you are that counts.

The worldly wealth may not be yours,
Your station may be low;
What worth have outward signs of success?
They're merely false tableaux.
It's what you are that counts, my boy,
It's what you are that counts.

Perhaps you'll dwell in home of kings,
Perhaps in cottage small;
But whate'er place your lot may be,
It's you must rise or fall.
It's what you are that counts, my boy,
It's what you are that counts.

Your race may have of rank been low,
Or maybe have been high;
But what will that bring you in this world,
If your actions it belie?
It's what you are that counts, my boy,
It's what you are that counts.

When at the end of this world's life,
An honest course you've run,
Your friends and enemies alike
Will tell of a victory won.
It's what you are that counts, my boy,
It's what you are that counts.

With shams and pretenses revealed,
The inner life's disclosed;
And then the world with open eyes
Will see if you've feigned or posed.
If you've been what you should, it counts,
my boy;
If you've been what you should, it counts.

Spring Fever

KIND reader, did you ever think how extremely susceptible the human race is to the alterations in the atmospherical conditions? We change with the weather. When it rains, we feel lonesome and drowsy. When it snows we get cold shoulders and feet, but when spring comes, we take our minds off of radiators and hot-water bottles and commit deeds, which, if done in winter, would make us shudder with horror.

We see the old miser—the humpbacked, pinched-faced, bald-headed, stingy old miser—suddenly become generous and endow some female college with a handsome sum of hard-earned "kale." We see the millionaire—the sedate, dignified money-schemer—suddenly turn foolish and elope with his stenographer. We see the common, hard-working laborer come home one night with an extra package of snuff for his wife. We see the relentless "prof" disregard custom and pass some dainty little "miss" on a Woolley quiz. All this and much more we can attribute to nothing in the world but alterations in the weather.

When the croak of the bullfrog, the zoon of the Junebug, and the bill of the mosquito proclaim the advent of spring, a marvelous change comes over the student body. The Freshman begins to write more often to his little Mary than to his fond mother. A sudden calm comes over the bloody Soph, and he refrains from committing atrocities in order to spend more of his time up town searching for winks and smiles. The studious Junior forsakes his books to compose poetry and visit the Orpheum; while the dignified Senior begins to think not so much of himself alone as of himself in connection with some fair lady. His mustache and walking stick are no longer ends in themselves, but are merely instruments used for the accomplishment of a purpose—namely, to attract the attention and admiration of some little irresponsible bunch of frills.

But, you ask, what affect does the spring have upon the inmates of the Fraushack? Here, dear reader, we enter into a field so extensive as to make your eyes bulge out with amazement. Could you only know the many hours spent before the mirror, could you only see the many cans of skin-beautifiers, pimple-eradicators, dimple-producers, and fat-modifiers—could you only count the many fashion sheets and magazine articles on "How to Become Beautiful Overnight," or "The Way to Make a Good Catch," then I am sure you would be fully convinced that the feminine side of the college is by no means exempt from the sun's rays. We might speak paroditically and say, "In the spring a fuller crimson comes upon the co-ed's cheek." The lovely blush, however, is not the only alteration that spring brings to the inmates of the north. Their smiles grow brighter, their dimples seem deeper, their hearts become lighter—so do their heads and skirts, but we will crease..

Oh, yes, the college students of both sexes are very susceptible to the spring fever, and they, like many other poor misguided mortals, are led to commit many foolhardy deeds. They wander about the campus, two by two. They recline on the green lawn, watch the silvery clouds drift by, look for four leaf clovers, grow sentimental, get late to classes, exchange winks, flunk quizzes, and at the end of it all go to their rooms humming that popular little ditty, entitled, "What the H—— Do We Care." Yet, in the midst of it all, we might appropriately look up into the ethereal blue, and say, in a biblical tone of voice: "Forgive them, for they know not what they do."

A Prophetic Dream

(G. E. Powell)

IN Psychology one day in the year of 1919, I fell asleep—quite unusual, I can assure you—and as I slept, I dreamed a dream. In my dream methought I had finally graduated and had gone far, far away from the scene of my college days. Now after eleven years had elapsed, I found myself visiting Trinity College one morning in the spring of 1930.

As I passed the entrance there came to my ears the rythmic sound of feminine laughter, and my nostrils seemed filled with delicate perfumes. With question marks piercing my brain, I advanced along the pavement and stopped in front of Washington Duke monument. Upon first glance it seemed that it was the same old Washington that I had so often seen in days of old. Imagine my surprise, however, when before my eyes the trousers of the bronze gentleman seemed gradually to take on the form of a skirt, and around his neck there appeared to hang a necklace of pearls. Wonderingly looking up into his face, I saw his cheeks were blushing crimson, while his eyes seemed to say, "Ye gods, I didn't mean this—no, not this."

As I stood there attempting to grasp the significance of this strange phenomenon, my ears were tickled with sundry noises like the chirping of many sparrows. Glancing up at the windows of West Duke, I saw the bright faces of several young girls who were vigorously waving their handkerchiefs at me. Suddenly, however, they disappeared from view, probably because the teacher entered the room. Thinks I to myself, "This is growing interesting."

However, the incident seemed to give rise to another great host of question marks, which began to thrust themselves upon my consciousness. I decided to walk over to the Jarvis, the dormitory I used to love and in which I had passed many a happy hour. As I approached the building my thoughts flew back a dozen years and began to feast upon the golden moments spent under its roof. How well I remembered the scuffles, the jokes, the laughter, the bull-feasts, the crap-shootings, and the cuspidor-rollings—all as if they had happened yesterday.

But, suffering snakes! what did I see when I looked at this self-same building on this bright spring morning? From a third-story window to the right there floated a delicately-tinted kimono; to the left there waved a pair of pink silk calf-coverers, while the fire-escape and windows of the middle section were littered with all manner of feminine garments of various denominations—we will not attempt to go into details.

Never before had there been impressed upon the retina of my eye a sight which caused a greater state of consternation or which came closer to disrupting my mental equilibrium. No, not since the day of the opening of the Orpheum had I received such a shock! With tears of indescribable misery oozing out upon my cheeks, I raised my arms to the sun-rayed heavens and emitted the following utterance:

"O, Jarvis, thou dormitory in which I used to play, fuss, sleep, smoke, cuss, study and loaf—thou who hast seen me in all my various moods and under stress of many emotions—sad, sad is the day, O Jarvis, that delivered thee into the soft hands of fickle spareribs and made thee a domicile of petticoats and powder-puffs!"

When I turned toward the Aycock to see if it had been converted into a chicken-coop, a similar panorama of diverse articles of feminine wearing apparel suspended from its windows greeted my vision. A swift current of unutterable despair swept up toward the hemispherical cortex of my brain when the awful fact began to dawn upon me that Trinity—my own Alma Mater—had been finally overrun with co-eds; that these gentle beings had at last ousted the male students, and that the college had been turned into a female seminary for the cultivation of the higher arts of Evedom! Ransacking the brain cells of my memory, I recalled that in my own college days the co-eds had been steadily increasing and gathering strength year by year, but little did I think that Trinity in the year of 1930 would be so completely feminized. Now I could understand the mystery of the monument and could fully sympathize with the feelings of the famous benefactor.

Feeling hopelessly impossible, I wandered on toward the old North Dormitory. As I passed the Craven Memorial Hall, I noticed that the old statue of the Sower had been replaced by a bronze image of Mrs. Pankhurst, the famous promulgator of woman-suffrage. "Queer improvement," thinks I. But when I drew up in front of Alspaugh Hall there met my gaze one of the most forlorn-looking objects that ever wore trousers. He was all bent over on the steps, his head in his hands, his eyes half closed, and his face wearing an expression of deep-seated dejection. I walked over, slapped him on his back, and began ejaculating:

"Look 'a here, you son-of-a-discarded race," says I, "what do you mean by the assumption of so melancholy a cast of countenance when all around you there are sights to see that never the eyes of Trinity students beheld before? How can you be sad in the very midst of so delicious a chicken farm, where the little skirted creatures flit around at random, hang their wardrobes out of the window for inspection, and fill the air with sweet-smelling odors of powder cans and cologne bottles?"

The poor fellow walled his optics around in their sockets at me, and then gave a Hebrew shrug of the shoulders.

"My dear friend," says he, "it's no use—I gotta give it up."

"Give what up?" I asked.

"The two million," he replied with a groan.

"Big boy," says I, "you've evidently got something on your brain—water, women, or something of the kind—and you need someone to push it off. Now I'm an old Trinity student of the Class of 1919 and naturally feel for you; so begin your little spiel, old top, and I'll sit down and put in a few sympathetic grunts now and then as the story progresses."

"Well, 'tis like this," commences my companion; "I had an uncle who was once a member of the famous 'Sachet Brigade' at Trinity College in the days of Dean Billy. Now, my uncle died not long ago, and, since I was his nearest relative, he left his entire fortune of two million dollars to me on condition, however—and here's the rub—on condition that I come to Trinity College for it least one year."

"Huh!" I ejaculated, "that's not bad a-tall."

"That's because you don't know the state of affairs around this hole," answered my sad-faced pal. "Let me sketch the situation for you, because things have changed mightily since 1919!

"Me and about a dozen other male survivors are segregated over here in the North with a prof, who was formely Dean, as our guardian and general tormentor. He is the only male instructor left. All of the other dormitories have been turned over to the girls and so will this one next year. We have to retire at night at nine-thirty, except on Sundays and Thursdays, when the girls are allowed to come to see us; then we can stay up until nine-forty-five. The President of the college is a woman of suffragetic fame. The Dean is an old maid who started life with a ball of hemp and a one-eyed cat. The secretary and treasurer is a typical grass widow who sits inside, while the other members of the faculty are females of various likes and dislikes—mostly unlike anything you have ever seen.

"Imagine how comfortable I feel when I go on a class of 'Child Rearing,' for instance, sit down on the front row by the side of the other two fellows who are taking the course, with the girls all behind and around us, and listen to a snaggle-toothed spinster lecture on 'How to Clothe a Two-Months Old Infant in April.' Or, again, conjecture how inspiring it is for four of us fellows to sit on a class of Social Ethics with about forty girls and hear a prosaic dame discourse on 'Why Is Man?'

"All the other courses are similar. The front row is always reserved for the few remaining male sufferers, who go to class and listen to some of the juciest slush ever perpetrated upon masculine ears. I tell you, I can't stand it any longer!"

"Brother," says I, "my cup runneth over with sympathy, but tell me, what sort of athletics do they have here now? When I left this informatory there was a faint aroma of football in the air."

"Football?" grunts my friend in disgust. "The most strenuous games played around here are handball, hop-skotch and ping-pong. Handball is all the go now. The girls frequently have meets over in the gym with other colleges. Just imagine how sensational it is for me to stand in the midst of a giggling bunch of co-eds and watch the delicate little beings prancing around, twirling about, jumping up excitedly, panting, grinning, and screaming every time the ball is touched. Great guns, this is some school for a man to go to! I have got to give it up, that's all."

"My lad," says I, "I am about to see the logic to your morbidness, and I pity you."

"By golly, I don't need your pity!" exclaimed my companion, excitedly jumping up and giving the post a kick of determination. "I haven't got but one more month to go to this feminized institution before the two million dollars are mine; but, by heck, I'd give up the whole darn fortune before I would stand it another week."

. . . . . .

Just at this point I was aroused from my slumbers by the sharp punch of an elbow, "Doctor," says I, "did you call on me?"

10. There hasn't been a crap or poker game on the park since the opening of college.
11. An aspiring group of Fraushackers—including Grissle, Early Mammy-Ruth, Peg, Step and Baby made application for positions in the chorus of "Experience." The employment bureau of this renowned morality play, however, concluded that they were deficient because Miss Buchanan hadn't allowed them to sit in the dark. The three latter aspirants were also debarred on account of their extreme bulkiness of statue, but this latter feature was no drawback to the former three.
12. "Charlie" Markham has stopped kidding the girls through the Treasurer's window in the absence of Mr. Newsom.
13. All the Freshmen made unusual grades on Dean Mordecai's International Law.
14. Miss Buchanan never sits on the boys at Fraushack.
15. The difference between Bob and Brute: One loves chickens, the other birds!

The One Without the Other We Never Hope to See

1. Daddy without his mittens.
2. A law student without an air of importance.
3. A Freshman without a prep school medal.
4. Dean Mordecai without his dog Pomp.
5. "K. B." without "D. O."
6. A boarding house without hash.
7. A "hard-boy" dance without "Pebbles" Powell.
8. A Senior without a desire for—if not an attempt at—a moustache.
9. A Bull Feast without Bob Hambrick.
10. A race without a "track."
11. "O. T." without a chew of the old weed.
12. A gold hat cord without a "shave-tail."
13. A Tomb's initiation without a warm end.

Hard, Wasn't It?

The weather was fair and "Daddy" Gates sat, putting on his rubbers. In walked Egg Willis, who had ridden much but laughed little.

"Doctor, what'd I do on the quiz!" inquires Bill.

"Now, my dear Mr. Willis," says "Daddy," reaching for his umbrella and heaving a sigh similar to the old Dido pulled off when Aeneas deserted her, "I'll have to confess that I was horribly disappointed in you. You left out so many important items in your paper. For instance, yo ufailed to mention whether or not Plautus was baldheaded at fifty, the color of Cicero's eyes, the name of his daughter's favorite poodle dog, the price of his wife's earrings, and a great many more such essentials. Now, Mr. Willis, in conclusion, I wish to say that I've thought deeply over the matter and I don't think I would be doing you, Cicero, or myself justice to give you over 69 13-14!"

"Show Your Papers"

RUMOR has it that last summer Professor Edwards, together with "sub-Profs" Hanchey, Scarboro and Jones, had a secret contract with the government to survey certain lands for governmental purposes. Consequently they had papers in their possession which gave them the unqualified right to go upon anybody's land in performance of their duties. Now, it so happened that in the course of their surveying, our friends found it imperative to make several "set-ups" in the midst of a promising field of grain. While Hunter's long legs and Hanchey's big feet were engertically engaged in trampling down a little grain-covered area to provide a place for setting up their instruments, a hefty looking farmer came frowning down upon them.

"What in the Sam Hill do you mean, you rascals, by coming on a peaceable man's lands and doing sech as that. Git off'a here, darn ye—git off'a here!" explodes the hot arrival, exhibiting signs of hostility.

Hunter blinked his eyes, Scarboro glanced back over his shoulder, while Hanchey made desperate efforts to conceal himself behind a good-sized stalk of grain. Professor Edwards saved the situation.

"Calm yourself, my friend," says the latter. "We four gentlemen are employed in the service of the government, and here are our papers giving us authority to come on your land."

The farmer fingered the papers awhile; then handed them back, turned on his heels, and left without another word. About five minutes later, however, our friends saw a ferocious bull making straight for them at the rate of about sixty miles an hour. Now, as fate would have it, Professor Edwards was wearing his red coat that morning, which apparently did not tend to soothe the wrought up feelings of the bull. So out of pure self-respect the little quartet was compelled to shin up a tree, leaving the bull to snort below.

Just then a voice called out from a distant hill: "Show your papers to the bull, consarn ye."

Things As They Ain't

MOST glittering dance was staged on the unexcelled floor of our new gymnasium last Friday night. Our band, which is the pride of the college, rendered very appropriate and foot-stirring music. All the professors, the co-eds, and the ministerial students were there. Miss Buchanan, who has so unselfishly undertaken to cultivate the art of dancing in our midst, was very much pleased with the immense success which has rewarded her efforts as was evidenced last Friday evening. She was especially enthused over the artistic "shimmy-she-wobbling" of "Fuzzy" Ellis, the graceful tickle-toeing of "Daddy" Gates, and the excellent cheeking of "Mink" Glasson.

Last Wednesday evening the male students of the college met together in a mass-meeting and moved solely by religious and moral motives, decided unanimously to boycot the Orpheum Theater. A written declaration was signed by every man present, binding him never again to enter that institution of liberal arts and lights. Among the notable leaders of this enlightened movement were Tub Taylor, Roxy Hambrick, Jack Kindley and Puck Simmons.

We are very much elated over the great reconstruction that has taken place in chapel exercises and chapel attendance. Not a soul has been absent since the opening of college. Almost every day we have some new surprise awaiting us, either in the form of a highly cultured lecture by some prominent senator or in the shape of a musical farce. After the benediction the orchestra plays, "Till We Meet Again," while each boy grabs him a co-ed and goes waltzing out of the hall.

It also gives great pleasure to report that college mess hall has proved a glorious success. The price is very low, and yet the fare is simply scrumptuous. Hot rolls, delicious waffles, fried chicken, excellent wine, and ice cream are matters of daily occurrence. And to cap the climax, the management is reaping a wonderful profit. Unlike the condition found in most college mess halls, the conduct is above reproach and characterized by strict observance of the best rules of etiquette.

The Freshman class this year manifests a high degree of intelligence. Especially is this true with reference to the fraternity pledges, all of whom made excellent grades and were initiated promptly.

It is officially reported that "X. Y. Z.," "Zip," "Buck," "Sammie," and "Osley" haven't failed to attend church services a single week this year. We are sure that all the friends of the above named gentlemen will be delighted to hear of their wonderful record.

Early in the year it was learned that the co-eds were ruining their health with over-study and insufficient recreation. The situation really became grave, and drastic measures had to be taken. Consequently, several notable improvements were made in the "Shack," to attract more callers, to amuse the girls, and to brighten their prospects for the future.

For instance, a nifty little victrola was placed in each room, a big $800 Edison was stationed down-stairs, the two rooms on the left were thrown into a dance hall to be used at any and all times, a public paint box was installed near the door to coax the blush to the cheeks of the pale maidens, while to the rear of the hall were constructed numerous little partitions like those found in some drug stores, each containing a snug little settee, which made very suitable resting places for couples growing weary of dancing.

Furthermore, a rule was passed strictly forbidding any co-ed to spend more than twenty minutes per day in lesson preparation. It also stipulated that absences from classes were never to be reported and that suitors could stay as long as they desired!

The Way It Was Doneibus

G. E. P.

Profibus flunkibus little Freshorum;
Freshie no-likeibus and aski for morem.
Profibus giveibus a second quizorum;
Freshibus flunkibus another timeorum.
"Profibus," says Freshie, "I'm a frat pledgeorum,
And before initiation I gotta passorem,
So come on now, Profibus, and be easyorum,
And pass me upibus on all my workorem."
"I'm sorry," says the Profibus, "but 'twould be wrongorem,
And I couldn't do suchibus and feel rightorum."
Now the Freshie was wiseibus and began bullorem,
And tell the Prof jokeibus that made him laughorem;
So the Prof began to likeibus the little Freshorem
And gave him a gradeibus of eighty or morem.
The Freshie, he thankibus the kind Proforem
And was initiated promptibus in his little fratorem!

Now, Isn't It So?

G. E. P

When you've spent all your hours
And exerted your powers
In having a beastly good time,
And in searching for fun
You've wasted your "mun,"
Till nothing is left but a dime.

When you've cracked not a book
But have managed by crook
To get by on class every day,
Then I say, by Huck,
You're all out of luck
When exams start coming your way.

When you've lived on dopes
And pulled all the ropes
To make the profs do as you please;
When you've been to the shows
And the Dean only knows
Where else in your search for ease,

When you've visited the girls
And your life's been a whirl
From the time that you entered school;
I'll tell you, old boy,
When you've spread your joy,
You'll find that you've played the fool.

For you'll certainly flunk
If you don't show spunk
And get down and dig like a "wop."
I know it's a sin,
But you've gotta begin
To work to go over the top.

It's not the rides you take,
Or the bones you shake,
That passes you up on exams;
Or the classes you miss,
Or the girls you kiss,
It's the effort you make to cram.

So open your book
And take a good look,
And forget that dear little lass;
Of course it's a shame,
But you'll shoulder the blame
If your studies you do not pass.

It's easy to rail,
And it's easy to fail,
But don't be a flunker, old pard;
Just begin to bone—
It's easy to drone;
It's passing "Bull's" English that's hard.

A Chapter From the Past History of Trinity

(By Claude Cooper.)

JACK FROST had long since made his first visit of the year to the campus. The trees had lost their gay autumn coats, and the grass had exchanged its summer clothes for the brown dress of winter. A clear half-moon had just made his debut to the chilly December night, and an old owl seated on one of the gables of Alspaugh Hall bathed in the moonlight as he softly hooted his nightly song.

In his suite of rooms on the first floor, Professor Few slowly closed his volume of Shakespeare, and turned out the lights. On the second floor, just above the Professor's apartment, Percy Robbins slipped on his nightcap, and after he had opened the windows, slid into the warm feather bed with his roommate, Thaddeus Fulton. The room on the third floor, above that of Percy, was silent; its occupants were out on a nightly call and had left a huge jug half full of wine on the table to guard the place until their return. The old owl on the roof hooted a few more times, then flew away, leaving the inhabitants of Alspaugh asleep.

As the clock struck the hour of two, the four occupants of the third floor began to ascend the stairs. At two-fifteen they reached the top. They entered the room with a rush; over went the jug, table, glasses, and all. Then they all bgan to dance and yell. This was not enough noise to satisfy them. Sammy Fat shouted with joy that there was a box of cannon crackers in the closet. To the closet they dashed. The heavy artillery began. The crackers descended and exploded in the near vicinity of the Professor's window. He quaked in bed, but he was afraid to get up. The occupant of the second floor was not so timid. Percy got out of bed, and with his long neck stuck out of the window, loosed his entire vocabulary of profanity at the window above. The Professor by this time had gained sufficient courage to leave the protection of his covering, and he also stuck his head out and looked upward. The roomers on the third floor had prepared a message to be sent down to Percy in return for his kind words. The message, which consisted of a large paper sack filled with water, began its descent. Percy saw it coming and ducked; the professor was not so quick, consequently, he got his by sense of touch. The bag broke like a piece of shrapnel as it came in contact with his head. Out of the window he jumped, with his wet nightshirt sticking to him, and rushed in the direction of the stairs. As he turned the corner of the building, he met the Bishop, who had come over from his house to stop the noise.

The two men reached the door to the room and rushed inside. The noise makers had hid. The Bishop and the Professor pulled one out from the bed, and another stuck his head out from under the table. The Bishop began to "cuss." He yelled for the others that had hid to come out. Sammy Fat opened the closet door and started out. Then he retraced his steps, and turned on the cold water in the tub. Now it so happened that the Bishop's son was the fourth member of the party, and he had sought cover beneath a blanket in the tub. In the next room the Bishop lectured the three boys, and declared he would "ship" them the next morning. A noise occurred in the bathroom; there came a kind of sneeze; then out stepped the Bishop's son with the water dripping from his clothes. The Bishop took one look; his face fell.

"Son John, go home," he said, and the two walked out of the door.

LANGHAM

DONT STOP!

Durham, N. C.

Durham, the site of Trinity College, is a thriving city of the famous Piedmont section of North Carolina, some four hundred feet above sea level. Its remarkable growth during the last few decades has been due chiefly to its varied industries. Thirty years ago, it was an insignificant village of a few hundred people; and even in 1900 it had only six thousand inhabitants. Today, it is a city of over thirty thousand urban population, containing more wealth, larger manufacturing enterprises, and greater school facilities than any other city in North Carolina.

Durham is the center of the tobacco manufacturing industry of North Carolina, and it is largely to this industry that the city owes its growth. It is the original home of the famous "Bull Durham" and "Duke's Mixture" brands, and it has the "Bull Durham" plant of the American Tobacco Company—the largest, best equipped, and best known granulated smoking tobacco factory in the world. There is also here the largest plant for re-drying leaf tobacco in the world, and one of the largest and best equipped cigarette factories in the United States—the Liggett & Myers plant. While the manufacture of smoking tobacco and cigarettes is the principal industry of Durham, there are other large and important industries which are rapidly gaining national reputation. The Durham Hosiery Mills, manufacturers of the Durable Durham Hosiery, are the largest manufacturers of seamless hosiery in the world. Among other industries in Durham are the Erwin Cotton Mills and the Pearl Mills, manufacturers of denims and sheetings; Durham Cotton Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of ginghams; a large plant of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, and the largest cotton bag mill in the world—the Golden Belt Manufacturing Company. In disposing of their products, Durham manufacturers enjoy great advantages over many cities of its size, for the city is served by the Durham & South Carolina, the Durham & Southern, the Southern, the Seaboard Air Line, and the Norfolk & Western Railroads.

Durham is on the Quebec-Miami, Capital-to-Capital, Central, Southern National, and All-Southern Transcontinental automobile highways. In the immediate city there are twenty-five miles of paved and macadamized streets, and contracts have been let and are pending for construction work, which will cost from two to three million dollars. The county has a splendid system of roads, and is now planning the expenditure of one million dollars in new road construction.

The city has excellent hotel accommodations, forty-six churches—representing practically all denominations, libraries, a munificently endowed hospital, and other desirable features of an up-to-date community. There are a large number of progressive retail stores, containing diversified stocks of high quality.

But while Durham is proud of its material prosperity, it is more than proud of its unusual educational facilities. The public schools of Durham are recognized as among the leaders of the South, and in connection with Trinity College, offers the unusual advantage of obtaining a thorough education without leaving the city. Durham is proud of the Southern Conservatory of Music, which is recognized as among the leaders of the musical institutions of the South. The Durham School of Music, Durham Business College, Atlantic Business College are all institutions which offer exceptional facilities in their respective fields.

The people of Durham will welcome to our community any individual, firm or corporation, willing to join with us in making Durham the best city in the South in which to live.

LOOKS LIKE A BANK OUTSIDE

Conducted Like a Bank Inside

No town in the State has a more dignified, well finished Banking Building than the FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

We are Bankers—that is our business—so we built and own our own home. We are proud of our Home. We are here to stay, and so long as we are here Banking will be our business, but to be of the greatest service and do the greatest amount of good for the community, we need your co-operation and encouragement. You need the FIRST NATIONAL BANK and the FIRST NATIONAL BANK needs you.

Thirty-two years ago the FIRST NATIONAL BANK was born here. We are owned and controlled by DURHAM FOLKS and we are anxious for our share of the business of DURHAM.

What has been your response to the appeal of the FIRST NATIONAL BANK?

Every member of the Board of Directors of the FIRST NATIONAL BANK is your neighbor and friend. You know them, you meet them every day upon our streets. One and all—they have but one purpose—and that is to serve the best interest and welfare of our town.

Thirty-two years of service prove that, through evil and good report they have done battle, for you and yours, most willingly, whenever and wherever necessary—now you have an opportunity to show us some appreciation.

We have increased our Capital Stock from $150,000 to $400,000, and are hunting for new business. Help the Institution that for thirty-two years has made its first duty to try to be of service to you.
